DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 1-12 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected claimed invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11-29-04.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14, 16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 14 and 18, the limitation of the core including "a maximum saturation in a frequency range between 500khz and 2000khz including a mechanical resonance frequency" is not further limiting. Applicant should clarify the specific structure and/or the mechanical resonance frequency intended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 2002204439 in view of Kobayashi et al. [US 20020080001] and DeCristofaro et al. [US 6,346,337].

JP 2002204439 discloses a bi-directional CATV system including transmission lines disposed between a headend and the terminals of CATV subscribers including amplifiers, branching equipment and distribution transformers [applicant specification, background of the invention].

JP 2002204439 discloses everything claimed except the specific core used for the transformers in the CATV system.

Kobayashi et al. disclose a Ni-ferrite core having an initial permeability of 750.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the core material of Kobayashi et al. for the core of JP 2002204439 in order to minimize windings and component size.

DeCristofaro et al. disclose a Ni-ferrite core, operating at a frequency of 1000hz or greater, structure having a low saturation magnetostriction of less than 4×10^{-6} [column 7, lines 3-16].

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the material of DeCristofaro et al. in the core of JP 2002204439, as modified, in order to reduce core losses.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Lebourgeois et al. [US 6,071,430] and Hara et al. [US 5,153,539].
